

Modern Calligraphy

Intent

Calligraphy is an awesome hobby to adopt because it's inexpensive, it's creative and it can relieve stress, which is excellent for personal wellbeing. When we practice our letters, we are able to concentrate on the activity at hand and other worries are pushed aside. This hobby is particularly handy on rainy days or when you're traveling because you can practice it anytime and anywhere. In a world with an ever-increasing popularity of social media, modern calligraphy can make for some unique and fantastic content!

Calligraphy helps to improve handwriting. With the popularity of computers, people aren't required to handwrite information anymore. We don't want to let our handwriting become rusty and illegible simply because we don't use it very often. We can keep our writing abilities sharp and easily read by frequently working on our calligraphy skills.

Calligraphy is also a possible career path. You might be surprised to realise this, but people will actually pay for calligraphy skills. When it comes to weddings, for instance, people usually like calligraphy on their wedding invitations or thank you notes. People enjoy having unique cards, and for this they will pay another person to handwrite their wedding invitations. If you get good enough at calligraphy, you can try turning it into a marketable skill like many freelance calligraphy writers.

Implementation

Children have practiced the various most popular strokes using brush pens. They have managed to grasp the concept behind modern calligraphy and how it is achieved. Children have practiced all the main letters and will now look to forming whole words before advancing to create their own masterpiece!
